"BOULD JACK DONOGHUE."

He Again Gets Into Good Company-Irish Ballads In the Jefferson Market Prisoner's "Box"—A Flirtation—He Goes Back to His Summer Residence "On the Island." One of the hardest looking specimens of hu-nanity whose fortune it was to come before Judge Ledwith yesterday, at Jefferson Market, was an Irishman who rejoices in the romantic soubriquet of "Bowld Jack Donoghue." Jack's career since his entrée into the world has been wondrously checkered. He is the slave of Bacchus—if that delty ever yet condescended to patronize the lovers of fusil oil yciept whiskey. When under its influence he is an erratic low comedian, and would probably ensure crowded houses to the theatrical manager who would engage to keep his throat wet. Jack's residence has been divided between the curbstones of the city and the beatific enclosures on Blackwell's Island, whither he was sent for a six months' sojourn some time ago. He recently, however, ar rived in town, and, as a matter of course, he yesterday paid his compliments to Judge Ledhe yester day paid his compliments to Judge Ledwith, who received him with an expression on his face that indicated that he was not unexpected. Before the morning intermission had passed Jack was brought into Court by an officer, and he aroused it from the lethargy of dulmess which fails upon it at this hour, by a prolonged series of shouts as he was shoved toward the "box." The iron door was swung open, and Jack entered the steaming atmosphere with the philosophic remark that he was "always glad to get in good company." The "box" contained two or three lewd women, two counterfeiters and a large number of drunkards. "Bowld Jack" walked like a prince of the blood to a seat in the corner, where he sat down quietly and then gazed around. Pretty soon he engaged in repartee with some of his fellows, and uttered remarks which, sithough of the most vulgar kind, were loud enough to be heard in the court room and witty enough to set the crowd in a roar.

A weak young female then became engaged in a firtation with "bould Jack," and seemed well pleased with his person, although he was not attired very elegantly. He wore only a dirty shirt, which was torn on the back and had a huge rent on the shoulder, and trousers which were tattered and awry, and boots which were rather the worse for wear. She meckly asked him to sing her a song. Approaching the door Jack shouted, "Come, gintlemin, Fill now sing yees whativer ye'll loike." "Gloud y is it bould y hum !"

The compliment was not lost, and soon in a strong, ringing voice he sang some well known words to the great edification of the miscellaneous audience in the court room and the "box."

On the entrance of the Judge, Jack called out in stentorian tones, probably with a thought something like anticipation:—

"Hoors for limbo! Who cares for fire?"

The criminals filed out with Jack among them, and when he stood before the bench he wore a very blushing and downcast look. The Judge asked him:—

"What's the matther, me bould mon?" with, who received him with an expression on his biushing and downcast look. The Juage

"What's the matther, me bould mon?"

Officer—He's continually drunk and disorderly.

Judge—That's so, isn't Jack?

Bould Jack Donoghue—I'm vary sowrry to tell

Yer Honor that it sint so.

Judge—Why, that should be cause for rejoicing.

"Bould Jack" was very much crestfallen and he was very briedly santeneed to return to the "island." After he had been taken in the lockup below stairs he again grew melodious, and fragments of song issued from his grated corridor and floated upon the neighboring air.

James Youngs was arraigned at the Yorkville Police Court yesterday charged with a violation of the lottery laws. It was alleged that he had swindled Michael Santry of $3 by inducing him to invest that amount prize packages, those that are generally sold at street corners. Youngs was held for trial in default of ball. BARNARD'S IMPEACHMENT.

the bundle, and said he was unable to find the original injunction order. Counsel then asked to put in evidence a copy which witness (Mr. Millard) yesterday identified as a copy.

Mr. Beach said there was no objection to this. Witness continued—I was also supportant to produce an order made by Judge Barnard on June 13, 1870, in the same suit.

Witness was shown a paper, and said he presumed it was a copy made from that on file.

dence, on the ground of its incompetency.

The Chair decided that the evidence was competent.

Mr. Beach then objected to it as being unverified.

Mr. Parsons showed witness a paper issued on June 22, and asked him if he recognized it as signed by Judge Barnard, and he answered that he did.

Witness was then asked if in it the order of June 18 was referred to? He answered that he could only presume so. The two papers were flied together and that made it presumable that they referred to each other.

The Chair decided that the evidence was incompetent, as it was not verified in the legal way.

Witness continued:—He could not say he was subpensed to produce certain affidavits on which was based orders by Judge Barnard; he had produced all the papers he could find in the suit; the order of June 27 was a special term order: all affidavits and papers in such cases are flied with me, and should have been filed inside this order. A number of other papers were put in evidence relating to the same suit.

was called to the stand and was sworn and examined by Manager Niles—I reside in New York at 356 West Twenty-third street; I know Gerge G. Barnard; in the spring of 1868 I resided for a time in Jersey City; James Fisk, Jr., was there; I cannot say there was Erie Railroad litigation of my own knowledge; I saw no papers in sweh case; Helt there in the latter part of April for New York; I went to the Charendon Hotel and stayed there four weeks; then went to 18 West Twenty-fourth street; staid there one year.

Did you there see George G. Barnard?

Mr. Beach objected, as immaterial and irrelevant.

The objection was overruled and the witness answered in the affirmative.
Witness was asked bow often he was there.
Mr. Beach objected to any question of a social Manager Niles said he did not propose to inquire ecal relations of the parties, but only Mr. Beach had no objection to that, and the witness answered she could not say how often, perhaps seven times; sometimes he would come twice a week; the Eric Railroad office was down-town then; during that year James Fisk, Jr., was there nearly every day.

Mr. Niles inquired how often William H. Morgan was there.

Mr. Niles inquired now often william H. Morgan was there.

Mr. Beach objected to the question as immaterial.

Mr. Niles said he proposed to show that Morgan, Gould, Fisk and others met there.

The question was allowed, and the witness said she saw Morgan there several times; not as often as in her house in Twenty-third street; did not see him there quite often; have seen young Dudley Field there; have seen Jay Gould there.

The question was objected to by Mr. Beach.

Mr. Niles replied that he proposed to show that this was in ther quite often; have seen young Dudley Field there; have seen Jay Gould there.

The question was objected to by Mr. Beach.

Mr. Niles repited that he proposed to show that this was the UPTOWN PLACE OF BUSINESS for these parties.

Mr. Beach—What of that? What has that to do with Judge Barnard? He objected to this kind of scandalizing parties not here before the Court.

The President—The Court supposes that the counsel proposes to show that certsin papers were signed at this house.

Mr. Beach—I beg pardon; the counsel has not yet so said.

Mr. Niles said he laid no stress on the place, and did not propose to scandalize any one. He might slow that papers were signed there.

The Chair allowed the question, and witness proceeded, and said she had seen Jay Gould, William M. Tweed, Morgan, Fisk and others there; she was not present, to her knowledge, when an order for the books of the Erie Railway Company was given; remembers something of an expressman being sent for books.

Mr. Beach objected to this testimony.

Mr. Niles said he proposed to show that the order issued by Judge Barnard to seize upon the books was sent from this house.

The Chair suggested that the fact should be first proved. It was incompetent at this time.

Witness then said she knew of Fisk Persenting Judge Barnard, "Your little boy has had a very nice present;" he said "Yos;" I then said, "it,0,000?" he said, "No, not so much as that," and he afterwards came over to the house and showed me the book, and it was $1,000; I think Fisk told me Jay Gould participated in making that present; Fisk had told me the amount was $10,000 but when Barnard asked me who told me so I did not answer; I remember going to Albany once with Fisk, and think it was when he went up to take possession of the Albany and showed me the book, and it was $1,000; I think Fisk told me in Twenty-third street Morgan, Fisk and Barnard; that was a little over half a block from the Opera House; hor of any seen is heave the went of the went of the process of the process of the prov

I FOUND BARNARD THERE;
there was quite a little group of gentiemen there, but I do not remember who they were; do not think any o. the lawyers were there; did not know sherman had a law office in that building; was under the impression he was with Dudey Field down town; never heard the Union Pacific lit gation spoken of by Judge Barnard; never heard Fisk speak of it until I saw it in the papers, and asked him what it meant, when he said he had a fight, and that was all; I suppose I heard of the railway suits in 1869; I read about them in the papers; I heard no conversation about blowing op:n the safe of the Frie Railway Company; I read oilt in the papers.

Counsel asked witness whether she had heard any order given to take possession of the books, to which Mr. Beach objected.

Discussion was had, which was interrupted by the chair deciding hat the question was incompetent.

The examination of the witness was then conpetent.

The examination of the witness was then con-

The examination of the witness was then continued.

Q. Did you hear of any proceedings to punish the directors of the Union Pacific Railway Company?

A. No, sir; Judge Barnard never tasked of business to me; it was at my kouse, when I had

AY CONVERSATION WITH JUDGE BARNARD about receiving a present for his son; I remember when Fisk and Stokes diden at my house; do not think they talked of the litigation; I heard Stokes late testimony in his trial as to a co. versation; I was present at the dinner party at which Barnard, Pisk and Stokes were piesent; do not remember any conversation as to matters of business at that dinner; I was at Long Branch in 1870; I do not remember any conversation as to matters of business at that dinner; I was at Long Branch in 1870; I do not remember seeing Judge Barnard there; imay have seen him on the boat; Fisk went down every night; do not know how o ten they were together on the boat; they were daily passengers, and I was an occasional one; Fisk owned a row of twelve houses on Twenty-third street; he did not occupy any but mine; during the summer of 1869 Fisk resided at the Jerome House with me; Fisk fitted up the house 313 Twenty-third street for the occupancy of some of the employes of the Erie Railway Company; Fisk left my bouse on the III of September, 1870; never saw the counsel of the house 313 Twenty-third street; never saw Judge Barnard go in or come out of that house; could not say whether he was ever in Fisk; box at the Opera House; never saw him there; do not blink Judge Barnard ever rode long Fisk occupied the house 313 Twenty-third street; I always heard he lived there after I left him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Beach—My acquaintance with Fisk commenced in 1867, and continued till broken in 1879; he was hospitable and generous; he was in the habit of exchanging courtesies with gentlemen; I have not mentioned all who were in the habit of calling at my house; a great many others called there—some of the best citizens of New York—all of whom were in the habit of accepting my invitations; it was customary for other and higher dignitaries of the city than those I have named so come to my house and receive hospitalities; did not understand the present was made to Judge Barnard, but to the child—that it was a christening present; I understand there were many others made presents; the present were made at an afternoon reception: in this case the parties making it could not attend, and made the present by depositing the $1,000 in the bank; I was in the habit of receiving calls at my box at the opera, and from gentlemen whom I considered to be the first citizens; the Opera House was a place that gentlemen and ladies of the highest respectability attended General Grant visited it; he never called at my box, and I contented myself in sitting opposite to him; I could not see him in Fisk's box, as that box was under mine; never saw Judge Barnard transacting any business of any character at the Eric Railway office; Judge Barnard's family were at Long Branch at the time Fisk and myself were there; never saw any particular intimacy between Fisk and Barnard transacting any business at any place; I never saw them together anywhere at any time.

Miss Marietta A. Williams was next sworn. She said:—I reside with Miss Mansfield; know Judge Barnard have seen him at her house a few times within the past three years; it was not quite recently.

Barnard; have seen him at her house a few times within the past three years; it was not quite recently.

William T, Smith was sworn. He said:—I am a deputy clerk of the Circuit Court of New York; have brought some papers on file in that office with me, which I identify.

John Swan was sworn. He said:—I am a lawyer and reside in London; came to the United States in 1870; came to attend to business for gentlemen interested in the Eric Railroad; on reaching New York I communicated with Messra. Evarts, Southwalte and Choate; I was in court occasionally when proceedings in the Eric cases were up; was present in the United States Court when Coleman was appointed receiver by Judge Blatchford. Witness here identified the papers in the case, and said they were served on him while he was going to Evarts & Co.'s office, in Wall street. I took the papers to Evarts' office in order that the ordinary practice might be compiled with. Counsel offered in evidence all the papers in this case, which were accepted.

THAT NYCE CASE AGAIN.

Charles H. Tweed was next sworn—Am attorney-at-law, connected with Evarts, Southwaite & Choate; am familiar with the case of the Eric Railroad Company vs. Heath and Raphael; witness stated the order of proceeding in the case.

Counsel then put in the order of Judge Barnard in the Nyce suit, Witness said the argument in the motion in the Nyce suit took place on the 2d and 3d of May; on the 12th of July the motion before Judge Brady was argued; no proceedings have been taken to bring either of the three suits—the Nyce, Fisk and first Eric suits—to trial. Witness detailed the proceedings had in various cases, and counsel put in the papers connected therewith, when the Court took a recess till four P. M.

After the Recess.

After the Recess.

Tweed resumed the witness stand and was examined at much length as to the proceedings in the Eric cases. A large number of papers were produced, and, after he had identified and explained them, they were put in evidence. On his cross-examination by Mr. Beach the witness stated that there was a delay of long duration in settling the case in which Coleman was appointed receiver, caused by the stock being rendered defective by the action of the receiver. Witness was pressed to explain, when he stated that the receiver had no right to surrender the original certificates to the Eric Railway Company. Counsel still pressed his questions, and witness said that the receiver could not have had the stock transferred to him without surrendering them, in order to get the stock. Still his action made the stock defective, as it was not registerable, as the old or original certificates were. To Mr. Parsons—And this was done by the issue of $30,000 of the Eric Railway stock, and that was done without any law.

Mr. Beach—Do you not know that this $30,000 was procured by the sale of 30,000 shares of Eric Railway stock?

Witness—No. Sir; I do not.

Mr. Beach—Did not Judge Blatchford require Jay Gould to make good these 30,000 shares?

Witness said there were proceedings to that effect.

Witness said there were proceedings to that effect.

LOOKING TO BUSINESS.

Senator Perry moved that the Court meet hereafter at ten A. M. and adjourn at three P. M. Carried by a vote of 20 to 14.

William H. Morgan, counsel for the Eric Railway Company, was sworn—Was acquainted with James Fisk since 1864; was his personal counsel and quite intimate with him; saw him almost daily at his office and at his house; Fish was the comptroller of the Eric Company; I have known Judge Barnard ever since I have known Fisk; have procured orders from him on Fisk's side; the first order I got was that appointing Coleman receiver; I procured it at Barnard's house; that was June 12, 1870; I am pretty sure it was in the day time; I think it was after three P. M.; procured the order extending the powers of Coleman as receiver; I don't recollect whether Judge Barnard was holding Chambers; do not know for certain; I have obtained orders at private Chambers; do not remember obtaining any in the case of Coleman; might have done so; I can find out whether I did or not: I think Fisk swore to the affidavit when the order was applied for.

The Connolly-Tweed Suits.

THE CONNOLLY-TWEED SUITS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD :-

DEAR SIR-I see in the columns of your paper this morning a letter from Mr. Thomas Noian, citthis morning a Jetter from Mr. Inomas Noisin, cit-ing an act passed April 24, 1829, entitled "An act relative to suits on behalf of the People of this State," which, he says, gives to the Attorney General the sole right to sue in behalf of the people General the sole right to sue in behalf of the people in the cases of Tweed and Connolly. It would have been remarkable if the learned counsel for the people should have overlooked citing this law—as Mr. Nolan suggests that they have done—lift had any bearing upon these cases. But a closer examination will, I think, show that the cases of Tweed and Connolly are not within the purview of this act. The act says—

Secrion 1.—Where any one or more of the officers or agents of this State, either by his or their name or names, or by the name of his or their office or or shall have executed, or shall he rearter execute. Any bond, covening contract, promise of the people.

The second section cited by Mr. Nolan in his letter is not in the act as passed by the Legislature, but was enacted by Mr. Nolan for the purpose of making it appear that the law was conclusive in support of his theory. The act has only one section, and that is cited in full above. This does not seem to me to include the cases of Tweed and Connolly, for the following reasons:

First. The honds given by these officers were average.

ecuted to "the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the city of New York." The question therefore arises whether the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the city of New York are officers or agents of the State within the meaning of the statute; and this presents a serious difficulty, masmuch as these officers are officers of the city, paid by the city, and constituting the Corporation of the city itself, and the tenor of the decisions on this point are that they are not officers of the State, and if they are not, then, certainly, these cases are not within the intent of the act.

Second—The suits in which the demurrer before Judge Hogeboom was argued, and which are now before the General Term of the Supreme Court, are for the recovery of the money alleged to have been taken by the defendants from the Treasury of the city and county of New York, and are not brought upon their official bonds for a "breach or non-performance of the same." Yours, respectualy.

SENATOR BLAIR ON THE SITUATION.

General Blair is tall, florid complexioned, blueeyed and light-haired, with a sandy mustache.
As Senator from Missouri, his expressions are of considerable importance in the campalga. He has been living at East Hampton, on the seashore, for some time, a secluded country place where, he says, there are no politics, no newspapers, no telegraphs. The mail stage comes in once a week with a flourish of trumpets, and all the village turns out to wait the opening of the mail. The Senator was so infatuated with his quietude at East Hampton that he delayed coming up to the city until it was too late to see Governor Brown. About ten days age he was in Missouri.

"In regard to Missouri," said he, "I have quit bragging since Hoffman said New York would give more majority for Greeley than we had votes.
I can't cap that, and I don't brag any more."

"There is some chance for llimois, I believe,"
said a gentleman present.

"we'll CARRY ILLINOIS," said the Senator. "If you notice the list of delegates to that Liberal Republican Convention at Springfield you will find that every republican of note who advocated Lincoin's election is on the list, except Dick Oglesby"—

"And John A. Logan," said another gentleman.

"John A. Logan wasn't a republican then," said the Senator; "he was a flery democrat; and, as for Oglesby, he finds it better to stay on the other side."

The Senator is stopping with Lawrence Jerome, in Nineteenth street, but will return to East Hampton in a day or two.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Colonel Allen states that no Finance Committee has yet been appointed for the National Executive Committee, notwitnstanding reports to the contrary. He also states that, in order to avoid confusion, it is desirable that communication from outside the city and State of New York be directed to him, and communications from the State or city only be sent to the State Committee at the Astor House.

Important Action of the German Demo cratic General Committee and of the German Liberal Republican Central Organization-The Election of the Joint Conference Committee.

The German Democratic Union General Committee, Coroner Schirmer presiding, held a special meeting at the hall No. 146 Foorteenth street, when an address was submitted through Mr. Woltmann, the Chairman of the Executive Committee, cailing upon the Germans who approve of the action of the Cincinnati and Baltimore Conventions to unite with the German Democratic General Committee in forming an organization of German citizens without distinction of previous party affiliations, whose object shall be—First, to labor for the election of Horace Greeley and Gratz Brown for President and Vice President of the United States. Second, to see that in elections Congress, State, county and city candidates of undoubted integrity and honesty of character be nominated without distinction of previous party affiliation. Also, calling upon them to form Greeley and Brown campaign clubs in the different Assembly districts, which shall elect delegates for a German Central Greeley and Brown Campaign Club, which shall meet on Monday, August 5, at Teutonia Assembly Rooms, tor organization.

The CHARMAN of the Executive Committee reported that this address was the result of the action

The Charkan of the Executive Committee reported that this address was the result of the action of the Conference Committee in its negotiations with a similar committee of the German Liberal Central Republican Organization.

Some desultory discussion arose, when the point was raised that the action would involve a dissolution of the German democratic party organization, when argument was furnished that the action of consulting and conference committees to effect political reforms did in nowise involve dissolution.

The address was adopted by an enthusiastic vote. Similar action, was taken at a meeting of the German Liberal Appublican Central Organization, which met at No. 200 Third avenue last night, when a similar address was adopted.

The Conference Committee, composed of Messra. Dr. Merson, H. Peter, Dr. P. Merkel, Anthony Enckhoff, Weidling, Magnus Gross, Jacob Koehler, Dr. Gerke, Theo. Glaubenskiee, Wendt, Wollbrecht and others, was instructed to take immediate steps to carry into effect an organization in each Assembly district.

I have read the letter of "T. C. S." in Saturday's edition. Now, as a colored man and an abolition ist, of the days of David Ruggles, Lewis and Arthur Tappan and Theo. S. Wright, I am satisfied to trust our friend Horace Greeley, who has always, through evil as well as good report, been the tried and true friend of the colored people; and by November they will see things in their proper light, and Mr. Greeley will receive a large percentage of the colored vote of the country. I was in the Old Underground Railway depot, corner of Church and Lispenard streets, on the night of the raid of Boudinott and Nash for the purpose of kidnapping David Ruggles; and I have watched all and every movement for the cause of liberty by all parties in this age of progress. The greatest movement is now going on and "The stone that the builders rejected has now become the head of the corner."

DEADLY FEUD BETWEEN FAMILIES.

A Man Dangerously Stabbed-Ante-Mortem Statement.

Yesterday morning Coroner Schirmer received information that Matthew Burke, a man living at 641 West Forty-second street, was in a dying condition from the effects of a stab wound of the abdomen, indicted with a dirk knife in the hands of Jacob Bendar, a German living at 633 West Forty-second street. On Monday evening a daughter of Bendar and Mr. Burke's lame son had some little unpleasantness, during which the boy siapped her face, whereupon she ran crying to her father. The latter pursued the boy, upon whom he indicted slight punishment. This of course brought flurke and Bendar in collision, during which they former knocked the latter down with his last, and kicked him while he was prostrate on the pavement. Bendar, regaining his feet, rushed upon Burke and stabbed him, as stated. The ment then struggled for possession of the knife, and while doing so Bendar stabbed Burke again in the arm, severing the brachial artery. Bendar was arrested by the Twenty-second precinet police and committed to a cell. Early in the afternoon the Coroner started for Burke's residence, for the purpose of taking his ante-mortem statement, providing he was able to make it, and announced his intention of returning again; but up to the time of closing the Coroner's office he had not had appearance. lomen, indicted with a dirk knife in the hands of
